Edwards' Directories.

The Standard and Official Directories of the South and West.

 From the Chicago Evening Journal.

As Edwards' Directories have been pronounced the best EVER PUBLISHED IN CHICAGO, and as they have been THOROUGHLY TESTED BY ALL CLASSES OF CITIZENS, we can fully rely upon the forthcoming work as being in every particular correct and reliable.

Resolution of the City Council of Indianapolis.

BE IT RESOLVED, That the CITY COUNCIL of Indianapolis, feeling the want, and knowing the value of such a work to their fellow-citizens, and appreciating the enterprise of Mr. Edwards in issuing the Indianapolis Directory for the last few years in a manner creditable to the city and himself, and that we recommend our citizens to give their support to Edwards' Directory, thus securing the annual publication of a standard work.

JOHN CAVEN, Mayor.

CYRUS S. BUTTERFIELD, City Clerk.

 From the Chicago Daily Tribune.

Edwards' Directory combines all the qualities needed in a work of this kind, and has the entire confidence of the business men of all classes. The highest testimonials have been bestowed upon it. It has been pronounced "unsurpassed for beauty and correctness;" "THE STANDARD BOOK OF THE CITY;" an indispensable requisite to every business office;" "highly appreciated by the business community and travelers generally;" an institution in the West, and its annual visit always welcome," &c., &c.

 From the St. Louis Daily Times.

Mr. Edwards is emphatically a pioneer in this branch of business, and is a faithful representative of St. Louis enterprise. He commenced the publication of Directories for this city many years ago, after all had failed in previous attempts, and has continued the issue under all circumstances every year since. Not long after his advent here, he commenced the publication of Directories for Louisville, Indianapolis and Milwaukee. Next he tackled Chicago, where he had to encounter a strong opposition for three years, finally coming out victorious. He also publishes Directories for Memphis, Mobile and New Orleans. As a Directory publisher, "no pent-up Utica contracts his powers," but whenever he sees a point, in common parlance, he "makes for it," and where others would be months in issuing a like work, he accomplishes the task in the same number of weeks, complete and reliable. Our Merchants' Exchange have taken the right view of the value of a City Directory to our people, as well as to strangers, and have passed the following complimentary resolution in regard to it:

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE RESOLUTION.

WHEREAS, THE MERCHANTS, MANUFACTURERS AND BUSINESS MEN of St. Louis regard the publication of an annual Directory of our city a great convenience and a business necessity, and that our fellow citizen, Mr. Richard Edwards, has for many years issued such a work as has shown from time to time our growth and the greatness of St. Louis; be it RESOLVED, That the Union Merchants' Exchange of St. Louis appreciate the enterprise and public spirit of Mr. Edwards, in permanently establishing a standard annual Directory of the city, and that we recommend our fellow citizens to give him such annual encouragement, by subscription and otherwise, as will enable him to issue such a Directory as will be justly entitled the Model Directory of the West, and that the Secretary be instructed to forward a copy of the Directory, with the compliments of the President and Directors of the Exchange, to the various Exchange Rooms and Board of Trade Rooms of the large cities of the country.

GEO. H. MORGAN, Secretary.

 Hundreds of such notices and resolutions have been given to EDWARDS' DIRECTORIES in the various Cities of the South and West.

TO MY FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC:

Having been frequently solicited by friends and patrons, during the last twelve years, to issue in my publications a good likeness of myself, and presuming it will gratify the curious, with an eye to business, I present the above as a faithful representation engraved from a photograph. As a business policy, and believing in advertising, I am in hopes the presentation of the likeness will not be without its good effect. Having studied and labored for over fifteen years in making the publication of city directories a business, I am proud to say that I have accomplished what thousands have attempted and failed. As there are always unprincipled persons ready to use the reputation of others, I hope the above likeness will aid in protecting my friends and the public against bogus adventurers, and also against the numerous irresponsible persons, who are constantly soliciting patronage to Bogus Directories and other advertising mediums, some of them having represented themselves as MR. EDWARDS, others as his agent, thereby enabling them to collect money, and impose upon the public. I would caution all persons against subscribing or paying any money to any person who does not show his responsibility and authority for whom he is acting.

HISTORY RECORDING ON TIME THE EVENTS OF NATIONS.

Dedication.

To J. C. W. BAILEY, Esq.

To you the Chicago City Directory for 1869 is respectfully dedicated by the Publisher, in view of your long connection with this branch of publications, your prominent and influential position with the Masonic Order, whose works for good are so largely felt and so highly appreciated; and more particularly for the happy termination of the rivalry once existing between us in publishing the City Directory. Having fought out the battle for years, we trust on the line of friendship, let us view the matter from the stand-point of forgetfulness, "with malice towards none, with Charity for all, with Firmness in the Right as God gives to see the right;"

"So here's a hand my trusty friend,
Just gie us a hand o' thine."

INTRODUCTORY.

IN presenting to the citizens of Chicago the Twelfth Volume of their City Directory, the publisher deems it not out of place to congratulate her people upon the evidences of prosperity which are everywhere manifest in every department of business, and the unmistakable truths which point with unerring certainty to her being in population, wealth and importance, the second city in the Union. It is useless and a matter of supererogation to go into a long and elaborate detail of the reasons by which we arrive at the above conclusion. "He that runs may read," and the most obtuse observer, and the most skeptical on this point, cannot fail to acknowledge that Chicago has but few rivals, and must, at the progress she is now making, soon stand on an equal with the commercial metropolis of the nation, as she now stands far in advance of any of the inland cities of America. The growth of Chicago is axiomatic; her natural advantages are great; yet in many respects not particularly superior to those of her sister cities. Allowing this to be true, the question naturally arises, from whence does Chicago derive those elements which have made her famous the world over, and caused her streets to teem with such busy throngs intent? Simply then, the indomitable will which actuates all her public and private citizens. This has built her railroads, her tunnels and her parks; erected her magnificent business blocks of marble, her warehouses and costly private residences; beautified and improved her streets, and made the waters of Lake Michigan white with the sails of commerce. This it is which attracts so much the attention of the people of the Old World, brings swarms of emigrants hither, who assimilate and participate with the business characteristics of those "to the manor born," and become worthy and industrious citizens of a free, happy and enlightened country.

No better evidences of the prosperity of any city can be obtained than by consulting the pages of its annual directory, and through these pages may be learned results in regard to population with as much accuracy as though given by means of an actual census. This directory contains nearly one hundred and twenty thousand names, an increase over last year of some eighteen thousand. The ratio of multiplication in Eastern cities in computing the population from a directory, is four to one; thus, if the directory contained one hundred thousand names, the city for which it was issued would have a population of four hundred thousand. Here, we place the ratio three to one—three persons for every name contained in the directory—and it gives Chicago to-day a population of at least three hundred and fifty thousand. We say this in no idle boasting, but with facts and figures to substantiate the assertion. To every citizen of Chicago this is a pleasing figure to contemplate, and forms the basis upon which our people so often make the prediction, that the Garden City is designed, within the lifetime of many of its inhabitants, to be the largest in population of any on the Western Continent.

In presenting the Directory to the people and the institutions of Chicago, we take the occasion to call attention to the many obstacles which have interfered with its progress—obstacles which ever will present themselves in works of like nature; and also to urge the importance of the information collected, which renders it of great value. An examination of the volume, however, will better convey a proper idea of its importance to the citizens of Chicago, and the amount of labor necessarily required to prepare it for the press, than any classified description of its contents. The canvass for the directory was commenced the first week in May, but owing to the unfavorable state of the weather in that month, was materially interfered with. To make the canvass in that space of time necessary to bring out the work in proper season, required a force of over one hundred men. This being completed, it has required also in compiling, type setting, supervising, press work and proof reading, another corps of at least one hundred; this labor bringing the sheets into the hands of the binders, another force of one hundred workmen became necessary, and it is safe to say that three hundred different individuals have participated and lent their handiwork in giving the directory its present shape and usefulness. The territory over which the canvass covered, being of greater breadth than that of last year, some thirty more canvassers than usual were needed, and notwithstanding the increased amount of names, and the small sized type used in printing the book, it contains as many pages as that of last year, and has been given to the public in about the same space of time. Considering this vast amount of labor, with all the perplexities and annoyances attendant thereto, the issuing of a work of over twelve hundred pages of closely printed matter, in so short a period of time, is a feat never before accomplished in Chicago; and when, taking into consideration the mechanical execution of the work, its clear printed pages upon new and beautiful type, and its substantial and magnificent gilt binding, the task accomplished must appear marvelous to those unacquainted with the manner of doing business here in Chicago.

In the preparation and compilation of a directory, it is necessary to take the information afresh every year, and to make as near a perfect a work as possible, requires the systematic co-operation of a large body of competent and intelligent hands. Those only who have participated in the labor of works of this kind can form any adequate idea of the many vexations and perplexities connected with it, and to which canvassers and compilers are subjected. The present volume is original in its production, the information obtained being from an actual canvass. The importance of the work will be readily conceded by all who have occasion to use it; and its cheapness must be as manifest as its usefulness, except, perhaps, to those who imagine it to be their duty to pick all the little errors they can find and exaggerate their importance. It is by this class of people that many formidable and embarrassing obstacles are thrown, and which help to render the work imperfect. They not only refuse to give their names and necessary information, but are the very first to complain of any inaccuracies that may occur. It would be a burdensome task to describe the capricious opposition with which we have had to contend, in obtaining the information required to make the directory as correct as we have aimed to make it, or give a tolerable idea of the ridiculous criticisms to which we are afterwards exposed.

The very great majority of the community, we are happy to say, gave to our canvassers all the information sought for. There were, however, some exceptions. For instance, one person not only refused to give the required particulars about himself, but positively forbid the insertion of his name and residence in the directory. This person may have had some particular reasons for remaining incog. and keeping his whereabouts a secret, best known to himself; but as it was the duty of the canvasser to obtain all the names possible, he must needs get the information elsewhere. Hence the error, possibly, in the spelling of the name or giving the correct business or profession to which the person belonged.

Again there was another individual who could not see the use or necessity of a directory; it made persons who looked through its pages inquisitive, and gave them a quasi-license to obtrude their presence into places where they would be an unwelcome visitor; he likewise refused the information.

Another person, as wise as Socrates in his own estimation, but undoubtedly a very simple individual in the opinion of his acquaintances, refused the information, because he regarded the directory as a humbug, gotten up for speculation simply, and to please those who liked to "see their names in print."

In another instance, an individual having an eye to advertising largely without subjecting himself to any expense, refused all information, unless the canvasser would, in addition to the insertion of his name, address and business, enumerate the different articles of his stock in trade. Our canvasser modestly declined the performance of this gratuitous labor, and consequently the directory is minus another name in the general compilation, and the economical advertiser's ideas have been nipped in the bud.

Then there was an ambitious young gentleman, who fills the useful and honorable position of clerk in a wholesale dry goods house, who insisted on having his name inserted as "a gentleman," and, as might be expected of persons of such aspirations, became extremely abusive because he could not be gratified. But the directory aiming to give facts, inserts his name simply as a clerk.

In calling at a certain residence, the canvasser was told by the owner that his name was omitted in last year's directory; he considered the omission an intentional insult, and therefore declined to give the information. Wishing to make the amende honorable, the necessary "documents" were furnished by a more obliging neighbor of the indignant gentleman, and his name appears, verbatim et literatim, residence, street and number, as distinct as types can make it.

The above are some of the annoyances in the publication of a directory, to which we have alluded. We merely mention them to show the glaring contrast existing between a very few individuals, and the great mass of the people and the business men of Chicago, who exhibit from year to year so many courtesies to our canvassers, and to whom we take this occasion to acknowledge a thousand obligations.

We desire particularly to call the attention of our patrons to the fact that this directory, though printed in smaller type, and some of the business portion accompanying last year's volume, transferred to our "City Guide and Complete Business Directory," which will immediately follow, it is larger than that work, and we trust will prove satisfactory, as we have aimed to make it, to the citizens of the City.

Very Respectfully,

RICHARD EDWARDS, Editor.

TO THE PATRONS OF THE DIRECTORY.

Don't lend your Directory. Keep a sharp look out for bogus works. They are gotten up to deceive, and are imperfect and worthless.

DIRECTORY THIEVES.

There are hundreds of copies of the Directory stolen every year, by persons who, under the pretence of borrowing for a short period, obtain them for the purpose of sale. Too much caution cannot be exercised in this respect.

DIRECTORY THIEVES.

There are hundreds of copies of the Directory stolen every year, by persons who, under the pretence of borrowing for a short period, obtain them for the purpose of sale. Too much caution cannot be exercised in this respect.
